These Poems have been written during my connection with the Fenian Brotherhood, and to the spirit of nationality which the organization revived is due whatever merit, if any, they possess. I have endeavored to fan that old spirit of our race into a stronger and more concentrated flame - Hatred to England, which is the strongest manner of expressing Love for Ireland. To the Irish reader, for whom alone these Poems are written, this will cover a multitude of sins. I remember the pleasant summer eves of long ago in Ireland, when the lads and lasses used to meet under the spreading trees, and to the music of the harp and fiddle dance the pleasant reels and planxties out beneath the moon and stars - Heart and harp-strings timing, Feet and fingers rhyming! Ah! in all their wanderings over land and sea, at picnics, balls, bazaars, in banquet-hall or greenwood, with the music of Germany or Italy to set the light feet going, they have never known such soul-enjoyment as that they knew on the village greens of Ireland. Why is this? Because they danced their own music in their own land. T was partly in the harper, but most in the music and in their own hearts! Indeed, my only hope lies in these two things - I sing of Ireland and for Irish hearts! Many have struck our country s lyre to grander strains, but none with a more loving hand.
