Excerpt from Improvement Era, Vol. 4: Organ of Young Men s Mutual Improvement Associations; June, 1901 Mr. Emery was born in Corinth, Maine, August 13, 1833. At the age of six, his father moved to his native town, Berwick, Maine; and thence to Medford, Mass, when the boy was sixteen. Here his father and mother are buried. He fitted for college in New Hampton and New London, N. H.; entered Dartmouth college, and graduated; and subsequently graduated also at the Albany, N. Y. Law School. He then went to Boston, engaging in the practice of law with Gen. B. F. Butler and N. St. John Green. His health not being good, he moved south, and in 1870 was appointed supervisor of internal revenue for Tennessee. To that state were added others, until Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Texas constituted his district, and he had under him between twenty-seven and eight hundred men whose appointments came from Washington. He resigned that position in the fall. Of 1874, being appointed Governor of Utah the following spring, without his asking, or knowing...
