Not illustrated. 1863 Excerpt: .the student in his several courses to pass from the more fundamental to the more practical branches, as in all other departments of education. Third, That the instruction in all the departments or branches should be demonstrative, as far as possible, and not merely theoretical. In accordance with these principles, the founders of the Chicago Medical College adopted a curriculum of instruction embracing thirteen professorships, namely, Descriptive Anatomy; Physiology and Histology; Inorganic Chemistry; Materia Medica and Therapeutics; General Pathology and Public Hygiene; Surgical Anatomy and Operations of Surgery; Organic Chemistry and Toxicology; Medical Jurisprudence; Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children; Principles and Practice of Surgery and Military Surgery; Principles and Practice of Medicine; Clinical Surgery; and Clinical Medicine. They divided these into two groups, Called the junior and senior departments or courses. The five first named branches constitute the junior course; and the remaining branches the senior course. The full Collegiate year embraces nine months, namely, from, the first of October to the first of July. Five months of this period, namely, October, November, December, January, and February, constitute the regular Annual Lecture Term; and the remaining four months constitutes a summer reading and Clinical Term. The regular Lecture Season, or Winter Term, embraces full courses of instruction on all the branches named in the curriculum of both junior and senior departments. And the hours of lecturing are so arranged that any student can attend, if he chooses, the lectures on all the branches in...
